

THE IMPORTANCE OF PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN GOVERNMENT AND CIVIL SOCIETY FOR LEGAL EMPOWERMENT

*Erna Witoelar, Former Commissioner,
Commission for Legal Empowerment of the Poor
Bangkok, 4 March 2009*

Why partnership?

- ⦿ The importance of governments to work with civil society is as important as civil society working with government: the argument goes both ways
- ⦿ Like in many other development issues (family planning, consumer protection, environment, etc.), in most countries civil society has worked earlier than governments on Legal Empowerment.
- ⦿ As governments develop national policies and implementation agencies, maintaining genuine partnership with civil society can create wider ownership and a better impact to these policies

Strength & Challenges of Civil Society working in legal empowerment of the poor

- ⦿ During pioneering times, worked with very limited resources, in a “trial and error” mode, many times in direct confrontation with governments, mostly at local level, where the poor are legally powerless
- ⦿ As time goes by, better advocacy created a better atmosphere for governments to build institutions on human rights and legal empowerment, but for the CSOs, partnership is not automatically
- ⦿ Impatience by the slow trickling down of policies & agencies to the local level, or sometimes a feeling of “self righteous” can cause CSOs to stay away

Strength & Challenges of governments working in legal empowerment of the poor

- ⦿ Different processes and opportunities can trigger governments to act, sometimes by pressures from CSOs, facilitation from international agencies, or the existence of champions within governments (NGOs=Next Government Officials?...just kidding)
- ⦿ In much shorter time governments can upscale pilot efforts of CSOs, and partnerships with civil society can be effective to change policies that are against the poor and disadvantaged group
- ⦿ Biggest challenge: trust building...partnership with CSOs working WITH the poor is an advantage

Key to Success of Legal Empowerment of the Poor Agenda

- Comprehensive agenda of change (4 pillars of LEP namely Access to Justice and Rule of Law, Property Rights, Labor Rights, Business Rights → reinforce each other) allow a holistic approach
- Political Leadership is crucial, as the highest level of political will is needed (President / Prime Minister) as LEP need a Cross cutting ministries' effort (finance, development planning, labor, law and human rights, trade) and civil society
- Continuous dialogues with active CSOs/grassroots organizations that rally around the theme of LEP

Key to Success of LEP Agenda ...cont.

- Broad political coalition (drawing leaders across the society including parliamentarians and pro-poor business leaders who are committed to champion LEP policies)
- Deep and shared understanding of the local context with the poor as the co designers (not an object) of programs and CSOs as facilitators
- Gender & indigenous people's rights dimension maintained in all 4 pillars of LEP Agenda
- Feedback in all phases of the reform including in monitoring of results, impacts (or the lack of it)

Partnership at the Local Level:

Demand  Supply

- Public (especially the poor) awareness of the law & their basic rights
- Public knowledge of proper forum and mechanism to seek remedies for grievances

- Established effective mechanism in handling grievances
- Participatory and rights based legislation making approach and increase public access to government policies

Civil Society

Government

Relevant Summary Recommendations from National Consultations in Asia

- Work with local NGOs and local governments to stream-line laws and develop ADR mechanisms that are unbiased and accessible to the poor
- Governments should work toward the development of responsive legislation that takes into account impediments to justice and seeks to implement constitutional provisions that work to benefit the poor when enforced properly
- Make property titles easier to obtain by the poor and uphold small farming collective rights

Relevant Summary Recommendations from Consultations in Asia ....continued

- ⦿ Work to integrate indigenous peoples LE need into the formal legal system and issue compensation for tribal lands appropriated for agricultural or commercial use
- ⦿ Create an index of the informal market and labour force and attempt to better understand its parameters
- ⦿ Work toward the implementation of programs such as issuing identity cards which grant vendors permission to sell their wares on the streets legally

Relevant Summary Recommendations from Consultations in Asia ....Cont.

- ⦿ Enforce laws that guarantee workers legal contracts for their work and redress in the case their terms are breached
- ⦿ Increase education programs and provide greater start-up capital for female entrepreneurs
- ⦿ Engage the poor at a local level through NGOs and grassroots organizations that encourage the communication of grievances, concerns and violations of fundamental right

Thank You

\) Presented at the Regional Dialogue on Legal Empowerment of the Poor, Bangkok, 4 March 2009*